the EA works as follows:

(1) Once applied to the chart, it draws a default trendline on the chart and requests to adjust the trendline to the right position.

(2) Once confirmed, the trendline will change colors to either green or red. Green means that the EA looks for long entries (current price is below trendline) and red means short entries (current price is above trendline)

(3) If the price crosses the trendline and the close of the next bar confirms the move, a trade is triggered and the stop loss and take profit levels are set accordingly. At this point, the trendline turns grey - meaning that it is unarmed.

(4) In order to re-start the EA, you need to restart it by either:

(1) Removing and re-adding it to the chart

(2) Opening the settings of the EA and pressing 'Ok'.

The position size, stop loss pips, take profit pips, magic number, as well as the trendline appearance can be set with the user parameters.
