

Until Further Notice Suburb channeling – 8/16/2013 (and some thoughts)

Hey guys, so in the wake of the recent conflict, here are some thoughts as it relates to us....(we do things...we work in convalescent homes, and many are on Disability finding things to do, and we saved eachothers lives, so leave us alone)..thanks...

Ok, so we heard...(something like this)

“We want to keep Rap on the hood shit, so no tunes collabs or money till further notice...but feel free to rap and all that...the truth stuff that shows “them” that they lie and took the music from us, as well as tried to eclipse you from doin’ yo thang”

That’s cool (we say) so we meet in the center...which is peace through music

(God is good...always remember it all goes to the good)

We just don’t agree with the “Both of them” part...we woke up 10 years ago...but to folks in tha hood, it’s both of them, because we were ultimately suburb kids...

O.k., so we’ve been battling the same force that both took the music from the hood, and then tried to eclipse a twin miracle message that originated in the hood, to make it seem something else....but now the game is seeing that there are two sides emerging as we go forward....the truth, and the lie...

”Cash rules” means for people to get their behind in gear and make money to survive...not to oppress the people...that’s the oppressive running game theme that has been happening...what about folks who don’t have a college degree, but want to work...raise lower level wages and let the top guns figure out the inflation issue...Big money on both sides...much love...☺
